This whole stretch of valley, (for so it must be called, since far as eye observes, both east and west, gray-headed hills are equidistant all along,) is a series of intervales which are irrigated by infant streams and manly rivers, springs and cistern clouds, wherever husbandman could hope for. The two ridges which seem to headly shetter these long valleys (of the seterson the Boulder, the Prickly Pear, &c.,) are green with growths of timber, and their bases bathed by waves of pasture oceans intervening everywhere. Through all these valleys, farms are cultivating and log farm-houses are fast springing up. Here a "high-toned southerner," who quit the States for the "sake of peace;" and there an Oberlin Ohican, who swears by Summer and old Ohiean, who swears by Sumner and old Thadd. Here is a ranch by Capt. Bark-ley to many a famous merchant of Missouri; there another by old Col. Boler, keeper of the Exchange Hotel of Santa Fe, Hew Mexico, a dozen years ago; farther on you'll find an ex-physician, whose "sands of life" have half run out, whose "sands of life" have half run out, engaged in "keeping station" and at interests at tempt another movement of like character.

How wonderful the progress of the postion which a sounds of years ago was but a howling wilderness, unknown to even the atlas-makers, and as of this postion which a months of years age was but a howling wilderness, unknown to even the allow-makers, and as much a "terra incognita" and Central Africa or Japan! How readily the "root of evil," yelept gold dust, scales the mountains, open business, builds big towns, plows up the soil, creates new States and makes geography! Look we at the land-mountain Scenery—Agricultural and Mining States of Montana—Mountain Scenery—Agricultural and Mining along, and how magical the progress of this Nation's infant child, this goldenthe average of towns "away down east."

Surveying thus while staging through this country, seeing sights of giant industry and scenes of grandeur, one is often lost in the ely-siums of amazement, doubtful whether from each night to morning his identity spreaerved; or, like the Jushman, in his infancy whether he hadn't been "turned around and changed." Seeing these wide sketched and verdant vales, with whitewashed ranges guarding them from afar—as feasts of fertile beauty spread beneath great granite walls which prop the purple clouds—we lose the track of our self-conciousness, like Noah upon our self-conciousness, like Noah upon Ararat, and inquire as did the Roman, Tully, when bewildered by the brilliancy of his own argument, Ubigentium sumus?

—"Where in the world are we?"

The Jefferson fork of the Missouri, (not of the Yellowstone, as Mr. Richardson mistook it, on his tour last fall,) is crossed enroute, at a distance of 40 miles from Virginia, by a bridge 200 feet in width. All ulong here, as elsewhere in these mountain valleys, the symptons of a mighty civilization are fast showing themmighty civilization are fast showing themselves, heralded by the "call on a thousand hills," pre-empted by the plewman "staked off" by the huge hay stacksevery where in sight. "Away to the sense of this Jefferson Valley are altusted the splendid valleys of the Mudison and Gallatin, separated by materials; and still farther, but to the northwest, is stretched for forty miles in length and fifteen wide. the Deer Lodge northwest, is stretched for forty miles in length and fifteen wide, the Deer Lodge Valley; (B) relativity to Valley (Tan.) the pioneer for farming and for mining purposes, as it is the queen for soil and climate. Beyond the latter lie the eldorado of the Elk, Big Bear and Blackfoot gulches—empires of prospecting and mining life, at present. (There are ten thousand people scattered through that section at this time.) It being "beyond" the Bocky Range, but with a "presirie

Deer Lodge City or Cottonwood is its county seat. To the far northwest lies Missouls County, stretching from the Bitter Root Mountains to British Colum-Bitter Root Mountains to British Columbia, and bordered on the west by Idaho. Beaverhead, Madison, Edgerton, Jefferson, Gallatin, Meagher and Deer Lodge are the seven settled counties of the Territory. Some of them are larger than several of the Atlantic States. The two first are the best known, for business and big mines, agriculture and advancement. But Edgerton is as rich, in quartz and commerce, as either one of them, if not much more so. Gold and silver ledges lie in all of them, and several of these seven teem with thriving towns and thousands of population.

No country that we know of, so far north, offers richer fields and finer facilities for the poor man and his family.-These placer diggings are not only as-tonishingly rich, (in places,) but they tonishingly rich, (in places,) but they stretch and scatter coextensive with the Territory. Quartz lodes rib the thousand ridges radiating through these last-named counties. Coal and iron, wood and water, farming lands and pastures plenteously abound, and are practicable for all emergencies. At the same time there are these draw backs to the divelopment of Montana, and they are no tribute ones to thousands who are here or might migrate here: First.—The win-ter are four to five months long, and generally pretty severe, so that the masses—be they miners, merchants, me-chanics, farmers, freighters or what not must make their calculations to make anough in summer to support them through the winter. Second,—The Territory is so far away from a base of sup-plies, of mill machinery and general merchandise, (almost two thousand

ELE CREEK, MONTANA. - A COTTOSPODdent of the Montana Post, under date of April 11th, gives the following interest-ing items from that section:

Last Monday, a shooting affair occurred at Eik creek, between a man named Kelly, late of Helena, and a man named Loan, resulting in the death of the for-mer. Loan attempted to escape, but was arrested and hanged by the citizens. It seemed that Loan had jumped Kelly's claim and attempted to eject him from the same, when angry words ensued, and the men draw their weapons and began firing. This is the first affair of the kind at the new mines.

The bodies of two men, supposed to be John Hanna and a man named Menree, were recently found in the Flin Creek Hills, where they had frozen to death. Hanna lived at Silver Bow during last winter, and was originally from California. The enormous sum of thirty thousand dollars was taken from a claim in Me Clellan guich just lately, in eleven days,
